Opportunities for students

ROMITA HANUMAN

TWO hundred students from eThekweni will get the opportunity of a lifetime to embark on an International Student Scholarship and Exchange Programme. Interested learners are to engage with their respective universities to apply and the closing date is at the end of November 2015. This comes after a Memorandum of Agreement was signed between the Diplomatic Coops in KwaZulu-Natal, Office of the Premier, Department of Education and eThekweni Municipality. Mayor James Nxumalo encouraged students to take advantage of this opportunity as it will enhance learning. "Learners accepted in this programme will learn new skills, gain international exposure and experience. It will ensure a competitive advantage. "The targeted learners are post-graduate and undergraduate students as well as those from previously disadvantaged backgrounds. The criteria for qualification differ according to the host country and the university," added the Mayor. The City will play a co-ordinating role to support learners that require ring-fence funding. These include costs relating to medical assessments, passport and visa's, travelling to embassies, amount required by student on departure, monthly allowances and emergencies related to travelling. Other costs will be carried by the funders. Thomas Mketelwa, Senior Manager of EThekweni Municipal Academy said: "We aim to identify and develop funding opportunities for learners from disadvantaged backgrounds, promoting career development and scarce skills, empowering youth, developing skills and facilitating the exchange of information and innovative ideas coupled with experiencing different cultures." Learners are encouraged to approach their respective universities to get information on the programmes on offer. The City will also be placing the relevant information on their website with a link to the opportunities and information. Interested individuals are advised to contact EThekweni Municipal Academy on 031 311 3192.

Hazelmere dam level continue to drop

NONDUMISO MATHOMANE

ARISING from the crisis currently being experienced at the Hazelmere Dam where dam levels have dropped to below 30 percent, it has become necessary for eThekweni Municipality to impose strict water restrictions in several areas across Durban including, Waterloo, Verulam, La Mercy, and uThongathi. The City's efforts to maintain a continuous supply are also being hampered by the declining river level of the uThongathi River system. This has affected water supply to residents living in the Northern areas. Ashan Nandlal, the City's Senior Manager for Water Network said Hazelmere Water Works has reduced production from 45 mega litres per day to just 30 mega litres per day to meet the first phase of 30% reduction. Restrictions were implemented last week in the following areas: Waterloo, Riyadh, Umdloti Beach, Mt Moreland, Canelands, Verulam CBD, Tongaat CBD, Belvedere, Emona, Chelmsford, Van Rova, Ghandi's Hill, Metcalf, Magwaveni, Amanzimyama, Fairbreeze and Burbreeze. The Municipality is dispatching water tankers to supply water in all affected areas. "We urge consumers to continue with their water saving techniques as rains are still well below average. "The overall demand in Tongaat has increased recently and the available flow in the Tongaat River has reduced significantly. Further restriction may need to be imposed over the coming weeks if the situation does not improve," said Nandlal, adding that most of the drought affected areas have continuous water supply. The City is appealing to all residents to use water sparingly and co-operate with all measures that are being put in place to save water.

Soup kitchen stipend increase

RODNEY MOORE

THE Governance and Human Resources Committee has recommended the review of the stipends paid to volunteers at soup kitchens. Chairperson of the Governance and Human Resources Committee Cllr Nondumiso Cele said volunteers were critical for the smooth running of the soup kitchens: "We have made recommendations to increase the daily stipend of volunteers and designated drivers in order to ensure the project operates sufficiently."

The volunteers currently receive R75 per day for travelling to the soup kitchens. Therefore, the Municipality is resolving to increase the stipend to R100 per day.

The transportation of beneficiaries who reside far from soup kitchens has also been taken into consideration.

Private vehicle owners were engaged to provide a transport service to identified sites and are paid R230 per day and is set to be revised to R245 per day.

New Interchange eases traffic congestion

GUGU MDLALOSE

TRANSPORT Minister, Dipuo Peters, Premier Senzo Mchunu, MEC for Transport, Community Liaison and Safety, Willies Mchunu and the City's leadership on Tuesday 20 October officially unveiled the longest and highest ramp on the Umgeni Road interchange on the N2.

Traffic congestion at the M19/Umgeni and N2 intersections is now a thing of the past as the new interchange is now complete and open to traffic. The long-awaited ramps accommodate the unrestricted movement of approximately 14 000 vehicles per hour in morning peak hour traffic, and 16 000 vehicles per hour in afternoon peak hour traffic.

The R512m interchange is now allowing free flow of traffic in all directions and relieving the delays experienced in this area. The previous interchange was a conventional diamond interchange where the traffic on the ramps was controlled by traffic signals. Minister Dipuo Peters said the uMngeni interchange will not only ease traffic in the busiest part of the city, but will also ease business operations in the surrounding areas."

Peters said the SA National Roads Agency planned to spend close to R37-billion on road infrastructure in KwaZulu-Natal in the next few years. A motorist, Nokuthula Zulu who travels from Overport to Newlands West everyday said she now finds it easier to get to her place of work because of the new upgrade at the interchange.

Deputy Mayor Nomvuzo Shabalala congratulated the City for achieving this ground-breaking interchange. She said eThekweni remains a gateway to the continent's trade, so we need to have the necessary road infrastructure to make it easy to transport goods through the ports, right up to the Dube TradePort and King Shaka International Airport.

Shabalala lends support to hospice

THEMBA KHUMALO and SIYABONGA NDLELA

DEPUTY Mayor Nomvuzo Shabalala paid a visit to the Ethembeni Hospice and Ekusizaneni Children's Home in KwaMashu on 18 October 2015 and handed over electrical appliances and groceries.

Founder of the Ethembeni Hospice and Ekusizaneni Children's Home Thobile Mhlongo said Mayor's donations means a lot to them. "The Deputy Mayor visited us a few weeks ago, I showed her around and told her that we were in need of a fridge, groceries and stove. And today she came back to donate items to us, and that proved that she is an exemplary leader and a caring mother." The eThembeni Hospice provides health care services to 35 patients, while the Children's Home provides shelter to 49 children. It has an in-patient unit for patients requiring intensive medical care. The hospice relies on donations. The Ekusizaneni Children's Home was established in 1985 by Mhlongo. "I wanted to help children who lost their parents through political violence. And in 2006 I opened the Hospice to help those who were in need of health care" added Mhlongo. Speaking at the handover Deputy Mayor called upon all residents and to take up the challenge of caring for the less privileged. "If we are to realise our vision of building a caring nation, we all need to work together and support people such as Mrs Mhlongo," said Shabalala.

Community dialogue on Xenophobia

SIMPHIWE DLAMINI

TO ensure that the xenophobic attacks do not take place again, the National Department of Social Development and Municipality's Safer Cities Unit have embarked on community dialogues on xenophobia that are taking place in 32 wards within the Municipality.

In April, the Department dispatched a team of social workers that teamed up with the Municipality in finding the root causes of the xenophobic attacks.

The Assistant Director of Policy Development at the Department of Social Development, Maston Phiri, said they have been to 18 wards out of the 32 that were identified as hotspots. The Senior Manager at Safer Cities Unit, Nomusa Shembe, said with the dialogues they are able to establish the root causes and drivers of xenophobic attacks.

"Our role is to do community facilitation and to make sure that the structures are all present. These dialogues presents us with an opportunity to pick up the issues raised by both locals and foreign nationals," said Shembe.

A community member of Albert Park, Pastor Bigirimana Mathias of All Nations Ministry, said they welcomed this opportunity to engage one another with open arms.

Electricity for Ward 15 informal settlement

MANDISI HLATSHWAYO

RESIDENTS at New Life informal settlement in Ward 15 broke out in loud cheers when Mayor James Nxumalo announced the roll-out of the electrification programme to 900 households in the area.

"The installations are at no cost to the residents after the Council decision to waive the R100 registration fee as most residents could not afford it", Nxumalo said.

The Municipality has budgeted R200 million for electricity installations in both formal dwellings and informal settlements for the 2015/16 financial year.

The installations are expected to significantly reduce dangerous illegal electricity connections in the City.

Contractors assigned to this project are expected to begin work this week. There will also be economic empowerment as eleven residents from the community have been employed to assist with the project. Work is expected to be completed

The free installations are in line with the City Executive Committee's decision to waive the deposit for electricity connected to an informal dwelling made four months ago. The programme is currently being carried out in a number of areas around Durban providing 30 000 households each year with basic needs.

Nxumalo told residents that providing them with essential services was top of the Municipality's agenda.

Thulisile Ncama was happy with the installations and said she is looking forward to seeing other developments in her community.

New child care facilities bylaw

SOHANA SINGH

THE Municipality's Child Care Facilities bylaw ensures that childcare facilities in the Municipal area are regulated and that the well-being and safety of our vulnerable children is addressed. This is in line with Plan Four of the City's Integrated Development Plan that aims to ensure that all citizens live in a safe and healthy environment.

The Child Care Facilities bylaw states that no person may operate a child care facility on any premises unless he or she has been issued with a health compliance certificate where the facility provides care for six or less children; or is registered in terms of the Children's Act No. 38 of 2005, where the facility provides care for seven or more children.

Every structure on the premises must comply with the requirements of the National Building Regulations. The bylaw sets out provisions for indoor and outdoor play areas, toilets, washing facilities, kitchens, seating and resting. The bylaw also states that the property must be fenced and also stipulates the fencing off or covering of a pool if there is one on the property.

The Child Care Facilities bylaw makes provision for after school care as well. Any person who is convicted of an offence under this By-law is liable to a fine not exceeding R40 000 or to imprisonment for a period not exceeding 2 years or both.

The Municipality may withdraw a health compliance certificate and a certificate of acceptability if there is any breach of the provisions of this by-law. For more information visit, www.durban.gov.za/resources.

CLEAN MY CITY

CLEAN AND MAINTAIN MY CITY

Beach cleanliness is our responsibility

ROMITA HANUMAN

THE Durban University of Technology's Maritime Students Chapter in partnership with the City's Clean and Maintain My City programme celebrated National Marine Week on Thursday, 15 October with an educational walk and clean-up from Ushaka Marine World to Suncoast Beach. The day started with a talk about waste minimisation and the implications of the Blue Flag status the City recently received.

Sikhulile Zondo, Deputy Chairperson of the Chapter said: "The maritime industry plays a vital role in the country's economy and Marine Week reminds us of the privilege that we have the ocean in close proximity to us. We need to keep it clean and preserve it."

Nomusa Shangase, who is responsible for the management of the beachfront from Ushaka to Blue Lagoon educated the students about the Blue Flag status of Durban's beaches. "To attain a Blue Flag status, we have to consider safety and security, water quality, education and environmental management and I urge all those who utilise the beaches to work harder to sustain it and keep it clean."

TEACHING CLEANLINESS: Maritime students at the Marine Week coastal clean up between uShaka Marine World and Suncoast beach in partnership with the city's Clean My City programme.

This year's Marine week looked at identifying sources of litter and emphasised the fact that wherever you litter, be it a river or a sewer, it ends up in the sea and many marine species are negatively affected by it. Durban Solid Waste Education Officer Noxolo Mcobongwana spoke about waste minimisation and emphasised: "Learn to separate waste and dispose of it properly. Promote recycling and make sure you utilise the bins provided."

The day ended with students collecting a large amount of litter from the beachfront, a testament of the success of the initiative.

WORD ON THE STREET

This clean-up campaign served to remind people that it is not dirty to pick up litter. We can all do it and if we preserve our beaches, it will help the future generation to benefit greatly. Stop littering!

SIMILE NINELA

Our beachfront is a tourist attraction and it is the first point of contact for visitors. If we do not keep it clean, tourists will never return to our City. I support the Clean and Maintain My City programme as it addresses the challenges we face.

Putting safety first at Emthethweni

KHAYA SENGANI and RODNEY MOORE

AS part of Clean and Maintain My City programme Ward 85 War Room organised and successfully executed a clean-up campaign in and around Emthethweni Senior Primary school in P section, Umlazi recently.

The co-operation of parents from the area made the clean-up and clearing of bushes, which were posing a threat to the pupils, a success. School Principal Gugu Zuma said: "It is important to have a clean environment for our school because the school belongs to everyone living around it. The positive response and support from the War Room to have the school cleared of the bushes is appreciated."

She went on to say that the enthusiastic co-operation shown by other stakeholders such as Correctional Services and the Department of Education who responded to the City's call to reclaim our spaces was very encouraging as it shows that they care for the wellbeing of our children and the school. "We sincerely hope that this relationship grows and establishes a culture of cleanliness for our learners and community as a whole," said the Principal.

CLEAN ENVIRONMENT: Schoolchildren showed their appreciation through song and dance for all the hard work to clear the bush which was a threat to them. Picture: Lwazi Mzobe

The cleared area will be turned into a vegetable garden which will benefit poor families around the school. Ward 85 Cllr Ntwenhle Dlamini said: "We are creating a healthy and safe environment for our children. This can only be achieved through a concerted effort by teachers, learners and parents. As the Municipality we are committed to providing support to all recognised community structures." He appealed to the community to report people who are dumping illegally on vacant lots. The decision to clear bushes was taken following a spate of robberies, muggings and even rapes of young girls in the bush next to the school.

Florida Road: leading in safety and security

ROMITA HANUMAN

THE City's Clean and Maintain My City programme encourages all to take ownership of their spaces, keep it clean and maintain it. Residents and business owners in the Florida Road area have certainly done this, as they rooted for an Urban Improvement Precinct (UIP) to be established. This was successful, and activities began in October 2013.

It operates from Lilian Ngoyi Rd intersection in the south to Mitchell Park in the north and includes properties on both sides of the road.

The UIP is a public space management structure and has partnered with the Municipality with the objective to improve the quality of the Florida Road public space and in turn, combat urban decay.

"The positive effects of UIP type structures, are being felt all over KZN where property values are enhanced, business activity is supported and the environment and quality of life for all users is greatly improved," said Brian Wright, owner of UrbanMgt, the company contracted to establish and manage the Florida Road UIP.

Other important objectives include retaining existing investment and building investor confidence, creating an environment which supports vibrant and responsible business activity, improving safety, the general environment and quality of life as well as responding to the challenge of environmental sustainability.

Linda Mbonambi, Head of Area Based Management provided the City perspective. "We are very proud of this initiative especially because it has brought the private and public sector together with the common goal to improve the conditions of Florida Road and promote safety and security. Municipal departments like Cleansing and Solid Waste, Metro Police, Parks, Business Licensing, Business Support and others have come together to do this."

The Florida Road UIP allows for better organisation, maintenance and management of urban spaces. Previously, the area was a hive of criminal activities such as car theft, break-ins and drug dealing. Mbonambi added that since the UIP was established, these have dropped drastically. "This ensures that Durbanites live, work and play in a city that they are proud of."

Local businesses attracted global markets' eye

NONDUDUZO NGCONGO and PAPAMA DUNTSULA

THE high levels of innovation and quality products demonstrated by local entrepreneurs during Durban Business Fair (DBF) Programme which recorded over 12 500 visitors resulted in discussions of business linkages with international markets.

Marcus Carnaro of the European Union said that small businesses determine which direction the country is moving towards and most developed economies relied on small businesses for growth and continuous investment towards the programme contributes to a better future for the City.

Carnaro who spoke during the DBF Excellence Awards said he was awestruck by the top quality of products that were showcased by local businesses during the exhibition which left him thinking offering export opportunities to some businesses.

Deputy Mayor, Nomvuzo Shabalala said: Small businesses have proven to be the real engines of sustainable and equitable growth for the City and we are happy to witness our efforts of connecting businesses globally gradually paying off."

Shabalala said local businesses have a fundamental task to dismantle the continuing threats such as poverty, inequality and unemployment and for over 17 years, DBF has been part of driving and characterising the radical economic transformation through changing people's lives by supporting entrepreneurs in establishing, growing and exposing their businesses.

The programme featured a two-day Business Seminar where top global and national speakers such as the United States of America's civil rights activist Dr Al Sharpton, inspirational speaker and author Iyanla

Municipality to position Co-operatives

NONDUDUZO NGCONGO and PAPAMA DUNTSULA

THE City's Economic Development and Planning Committee adopted the co-operative Development Strategy on 15 October 2015 as part of a growing and increasing participation of cooperatives in the economy.

Deputy Mayor Nomvuzo Shabalala said: "The City aims to increase procurement openings for co-operatives hence we will facilitate for certain goods to be exclusively manufactured and supplied by co-operatives. That is the supply of waste bags, toilet paper, grass cutting machine spares, cleaning detergents, staff uniforms, paper towels, cleaning of municipal vehicles and buildings."

Other benefits within the strategy is that the City will formulate new longer term contracts for co-operatives that will increase the job opportunities, implement their central integrated database, provide financial and non-financial assistance to enable development, promote access to export opportunities and link them with state and private sector marketing prospects.

Global benchmarking for environmental regulations

SIMPHIWE DLAMINI

THE MUNICIPALITY'S Environmental Health Department has embarked on a year-long sustainable development of Durban Port benchmarking project with the Netherlands Environment Agency called Dienst Centraal Milieu Rijnmond.

The project has two specific focus areas that is sharing the Regulatory Approaches and the implementation of the Air Quality Management System. The Municipality together with their Dutch counterparts is currently conducting mock audits focusing on chemical and petrol storage facilities in and around the Island View area which will help the Municipality realise its strengths and weaknesses.

Neil Larat, Deputy Head: Environmental Health Services said the Port of Rotterdam in the Netherlands has the biggest chemical hub in the world; it is 20 times the size of the City's Island View. "Their government agency has a lot of experience from managing these facilities from the regulatory point of view. It is good for us to benchmark and up-skill ourselves on how we are doing against the Dutch," Larat explained.

MONITORING: A team of experts benchmarked and did air quality monitoring in the Island View area.

Picture: SIMPHIWE DLAMINI

He further explained that the Dutch experts have pointed out that the Municipality's Schedule Trade Permitting Licence and Air Emission Trade Licence are not far from international standards.

"This also part of training our staff especially those that are just coming into the field. As a department it is important we have a succession plan. This programme is also aimed at trying to build capacity all the way through from older and more experienced people to young and fresh people in the department," Larat concluded.

City cares for the disabled

THEMBA KHUMALO

THE plight of the disabled and other vulnerable groups is high on the eThekweni Municipality's agenda. The City has made a lot of strides in improving the lives of the disabled through various initiatives. These initiatives and commitments are championed by the Community Participation and Action Supports (CPAS) Unit through its Vulnerable Groups programmes. The City has held a number of successful programmes that include, White Cane Rally, Deaf workshops, Albinism youth camp and disability workshops. The Municipality's Human settlement is also building hundreds of wheelchair friendly houses to cater for the disabled and the aged in its various housing projects around the City.

The initiatives by CPAS are an effort to improve the lives of the disabled and to raise awareness about the plight of the disabled and other vulnerable groups. One of the success stories of the City's initiatives is the offer of several public transport options tailored for the needs of people with disabilities. The Sukuma buses and Dial-A-ride transport caters for people unable to use traditional buses and other forms of public transport. The buses operate on weekdays from 05:30 to 19:30 and on weekends from 06:00 to 19:00. For convenience, commuters can make telephonic bookings on 086 066 2453 on a first-come-first-serve basis. Regular commuters can make a repeat booking on a month to-month basis for up to six months.

White cane safety

THEMBA KHUMALO

THE KZN Blind and Deaf Society in partnership with the Municipality celebrated White Cane Safety awareness day on 15 October 2015. The event is meant to raise awareness about blindness and visual disabilities. Visually impaired people from all walks of life walked from outside King Zwelithini stadium to Mangosuthu University of Technology in uMlazi holding banners and placards. KwaZulu-Natal Blind and Deaf Society Deputy Director, Nad Ramsarup, said the rally, which was in its fifth year, was part of the international White Cane Walk, being held around the world.

Ramsarup said, "For us this is a chance to also promote the white cane, which is a symbol of blindness. It is these kinds of initiatives that will help us gain safe movements and access to independence of people with visual impairments," said Ramsarup. Ward 87 Councillor Nomthandazo Shabalala said the Municipality is a caring Municipality. That is why we established the Vulnerable Groups Office."

Partnership to assist communities with healthcare

METRO REPORTER

A new partnership led by the eThekweni Municipality and the Durban University of Technology, in conjunction with the KwaZulu-Natal Office of the Premier as well as technology firm Siyaleader, was recently launched to ensure better access to health care for people living with HIV/AIDS. The partnership aims to respond to the challenges faced by authorities with regards to getting information from the community level. The initiative has enlisted the help of application to help improve services for people living with HIV. The application will enable officials to track individual performance of caregivers in every ward, indicating where health services aren't functioning. Everyone working on HIV care in the wards can log in and report on what they are doing, while officials involved in management at the metro level can monitor what is going on in each ward and where people need support. In this province, more than 1.6 million people live with HIV or AIDS, making it the worst affected province in South Africa. The project has received a 12-month grant of £96,944 which equates to just over R2million. "In this project, government is in the lead and all parties are working together to solve the same problem," said Programme Officer Gontse Legong. To ensure accountability each case will be assigned to a specific government officer and if no response is recorded, the case will escalate to a regional office or provincial office.

African vulture hatchlings need your help

METRO REPORTER

VULTURES are synonymous with the image of a scavenger bird pecking away at the carcasses of dead animals. However, this bird forms an important ecological component of our natural environment and cleaning up dead carcasses which decreases the spread of some diseases.

Kerri Wolter founder of VulPro is trying to change the negative perception of vultures especially considering that this is the season South Africa's 2015 hatched vultures are starting to take to the African skies for the first time. However these inexperienced birds are exposed to fatal situations that result in injury and often death.

Power lines and poisonings contribute to the greatest number of fatalities and injuries, said Wolter. VulPro appeals to the public to remain observant and aware of vultures in trouble and will assist with advice or guidance on how to handle injured and grounded vultures.

TO IMPROVE service delivery and effective management of the Security Management Unit, the Municipality has invested R15 908 000 into building a new Security Management Unit headquarters that are adjacent to Disaster Management Unit on Jeff Taylor Crescent.

The Unit is responsible for the protection of municipal land (land invasion), municipal assets and VIP protection. The Municipality is at the end of the building process. Touch ups are being done and all that is left is the paving of the area and thereafter furnisher will be moved in and the Unit will move in its new headquarters in the New Year.

The Deputy City Manager Musa Gumede said because the Municipality took a decision to insource this may be the first phase.

"We may need to review our strategy as to whether we increase the space there or we use different districts for that purpose. We are excited that they are now going to have a fully fledged Security Management Unit building with a place where they will be able to train and manage their people in a manner that befits the job they do," said Gumede.

The Head of Security Management, Dumisani Bhengu, said they were excited that the project was nearing the completion stage and that the project consisted of two sections.

"Our staff is currently spread all over the City and this results in an administrative nightmare and poor service delivery.

Having everyone in one building will make it easier for efficient and effective Unit management.

The new premises will include a parade area which is very important for the security environment," said Bhengu.

Regional Auditors discuss corruption and service delivery

JESSIE SINGH

OVER 200 provincial Auditors met at the Moses Mabhida Stadium for the 22nd Annual KwaZulu-Natal Regional Training Workshop last week. The workshop highlighted the importance of carrying out stringent internal audits within government and the private sector, rooting out fraud and corruption and discussed how South Africa can achieve economic growth, sustainability and stability by 2020 and beyond.

Mayor James Nxumalo said that the City's clean audit track record proves that its Internal Audit Unit plays a significant role in identifying fraud risks within the Municipality and in securing the organisations from being exploited.

"As a learning City we welcome the suggestions and the technical input on forensic investigations. Going forward our Internal Auditors will continue to ensure that eThekweni works towards achieving a corruption free business culture, be it within government or the private sector," said Nxumalo.

One of the key-speakers, Internal Audit Director (Deloitte & Touche) Zama Dlamini spoke on cyber-crime been on the rise saying that it has become one of the fastest growing security threats in organisations said.

"As Internal Auditors we can't just be looking at fraud prevention, cyber criminals are getting cleverer and it's up to us to think out the box and move away from traditional Internal Audits processes," said Dlamini.

City's climate change plans hailed

JESSIE SINGH

CITIES in Southern Africa have committed to unlocking climate change adaptation and mitigation to protect vulnerable communities and the environment.

International and local climate change experts gathered for the first technical Southern Africa Regional Workshop for cities and local governments at the ICC recently, to build and strengthen local government officials' knowledge and understanding of the Durban Adaptation Charter (DAC) and the implementation thereof, leading up to COP21 in Paris in December 2015. The DAC is a commitment by local governments around the world, to reduce climate change risks thereby reducing vulnerability of our communities. It was launched at the Local Government Convention during the COP 17 conference held in Durban in December 2011, with Mayor James Nxumalo as the first signatory of the charter.

The conference holds historical significance with the signing of the Central KwaZulu-Natal Climate Change Compact where neighbouring KZN cities and towns have formed a partnership.

Tendering guidelines part 2

In part 1 in the last issue of the paper we ended with the tendering process, this week we look at Joint Venture tendering, sub-contracting and the documents required when submitting tender documents.

Can I tender with another business?

This is called a joint venture (JV). When two businesses form a joint venture (a partnership between two businesses) they each contribute to the project and share the profit. In this way two (or more) small businesses may be able to win a large tender that neither would have been able to take on alone.

Use the following guidelines when selecting a JV:

- Choose your partner very carefully. Like any partnership, a JV thrives on mutual trust and collapses when partners become suspicious of the others motives, agendas and ethics
- Enter into negotiations early
- Rather involve two or more smaller JV partners than one other firm that is much bigger than you are; and
- Draw up a formal JV agreement and state all expectations clearly, including usually vague notions such as the one partner empowering the other with skills.

Sub-Contracting

- Delegation by one firm of a portion of its production process, under contract, to another firm, including in another country.

- The Company may assign the contract with the buyer or subcontract the whole or any part thereof to any person, firm or company. Companies need to note that organs of state may restrict the percentage amount of work to be subcontracted.

How do I complete the tender documentation?

- With great care and precision! Follow the instructions carefully. Even the smallest error may result in the cancellation of your tender application.
- Your nearest Tender Advice Centre (TAC)/and or Seda will help you get hold of and complete the tender documents.
- Be quite sure that you have enough time to prepare and submit an offer before the due date.
- It is up to you to deliver or post your tender documents to the correct address by the due date, and indeed at the correct time. If the closing time is 12 noon, your tender will be disqualified if it is handed in at one minute past 12.
- The tender will include all the requirements and specifications for the goods and services to be supplied. Be quite sure that you will be able to comply.

- Include in your tender details all the relevant experience you have in relation to the proposed contract.

When completing the tender document do not forget to:

- Include your Value Added Tax (VAT) registration number, if you have one.
- Guarantee the quality of your products or services. Also provide details of any
- SABS or ISO marks or sign of quality assurance that you are entitled to use.
- Offer substitute products or services where necessary
- Offer to make refunds if you fail to deliver as agreed.
- Declare the percentage or quantity of imported products
- State patents and details of any royalties
- Describe the packaging
- Give the time and place of delivery
- Provide samples of products or goods if required
- Use delivery documentation including delivery notes
- Complete the tender documents in ink and sign alterations in full.
- Obtain import permits for goods that were not made in SA; and
- Supply the prices that you paid for the goods.

Investing in transport infrastructure

I was so impressed and excited when Umgeni Interchange was officially opened recently. As a City, we are committed to working together to build a thriving, seamless, safe and efficient transport system.

The event comes at a time when we are celebrating Transport Month. Even ahead of the official launch, this interchange has made a tremendous contribution in easing traffic congestion and promoting a more efficient flow of traffic in the area, especially during peak hours.

As a City, we are pleased that our government has made the right investment in transport infrastructure which will make our country and cities more attractive to potential investors.

It is important for us to continue investing in overall transport infrastructure to ensure that all modes of transport from – such as land, sea, rail and air – complement one another and provide a fully integrated mobility solution for the country and its various economic nodes.

Here at eThekweni we are making investing heavily in the upgrade of our transport infrastructure through the transport infrastructure programme known as the Integrated Rapid Public Transport Network (in short: IRPTN). It will feature environmentally friendly and integrated motorised and non-motorised transportation. We are projecting that the budget

eThekweni Mayor

“As a City, we are committed to working together to build a thriving, seamless, safe and efficient transport system.”

for the project will be around R20 billion. It will surely transform public transport in our City and connect 600 000 commuters through nine public transport corridors by the year 2027.

It connects different modes of transport namely: bus, minibus taxi and rail.

Through IRPTN every resident, school child, worker and senior citizen in Durban will enjoy a reliable and safe public transport from their place of residence all the way to their final destination.

Construction is underway in Pinetown as part of the corridor connecting Pinetown and KwaMashu. In the near future, the transport network will ensure that commuters wait no longer than 10 minutes during peak hours for transport.

Our commitment to building a strong transport sector did not begin with the IRPTN but it can be traced back to our remarkable public transport infrastructure in our Municipality. This includes our investment of R12 million in the construction of cycling lanes which has improved the safety and experience of cyclists.

We introduced public transport lanes on both southern and western freeways to enhance the flow of traffic during peak times. This system prioritises public transport which transports thousands of commuters daily to

DOLPHIN DESTINATION

DOLPHIN COAST: This is one of Durban's best kept secrets; Umdloti Beach. This beautiful area is famous for dolphin activity in the morning and boasts whale watching from July to November. The Umdloti beach is shark-netted and safe to swim in and protected by eThekweni's lifeguards so it's perfect for some sunbathing or if you just want to enjoy a never-ending summer's day with the family. The rock feature is one of the most popular sites on the Umdloti beach.

We need Wi-Fi in uMlazi

I reside in Umlazi and I wish our eThekweni Municipality could also provide us with Wi-Fi that would serve the whole of Durban Metro like the Tshwane Municipality has done for it's citizens. We are the biggest metropolitan in South Africa and we must be a leading Metro in providing new services to the people. Communication is a necessity and that is communicated by the South African constitution.

We are currently investigating the different models to provide Wi-Fi to the city's residents. This is to ensure that all routes has been fully considered to account for the broader objectives of becoming a smart city.

Clarify the new bylaws

Please can you enlighten me why the council is making such a fuss over the new "nuisance" bylaws (which are highly unlikely to be enforced) when most of these laws exist anyway but are never enforced. It is a common trend that more and more laws are introduced without actually enforcing the existing ones. I realise this mail is criticising the council so it is very unlikely to make it into print!!

The Municipality has reviewed the bylaws because in the past, different bylaws applied to different areas. Our legal team had undertaken to rewrite the bylaws so that they apply to the entire eThekweni region. The point of publicising the bylaws is so that the public is made aware of what the bylaws state, and would be able to comply with them.

eThekweni Municipality rocks!

I would like to thank eThekweni Municipality staff for their quick response to complaints. I reported a problem via email, the following day I got an email from Karen Ronne to say that they received my complaint and gave me the name of Mzwandile Gumbu who will be investigating the problem as well as his number. Mzwandile Gumbu listened attentively and showed interest to what I was saying and responded very well. A few minutes later someone else called and asked for directions to my house, a team was going there to do an inspection. I have two words for you guys 'you rock'. I am very pleased with your work and keep it up. I am happy to live in eThekweni.

KZN Football Indaba aligns to SAFA plans

SIMPHIWE DLAMINI

THE PROVINCE of KwaZulu-Natal has become the first to align its football development plans to the South African Football Association's (SAFA) Master Plan and Vision 2022 plan by hosting the KwaZulu-Natal Football Indaba at Umhlanga Coastlands Hotel over the weekend.

The three day Football Indaba was attended by over 250 delegates from different SAFA KZN Regions, KZN-based Premier Soccer League clubs, Futsal, USSA, Masters/Legends, SAFA National Executive Committee members and Government representatives to deliberate the plans to restore the province to its former glory. The MEC for Arts, Culture, Sport and Recreation, Ntombikayise Sibhidla-Saphetha, said Indaba came up tangible plans and renewed commitment to identify talent, nurture it so as to bring back football to its former glory in the Province.

"The Indaba agreed to encourage greater cooperation between schools and local football associations (LFAs) in order to identify and nurture talent. The LFAs will identify and work closer with educators as well as encourage schools to participate in local competitions. Through this cooperation LFAs will be able to benefit from the facilities that are available in schools," said Sibhidla-Saphetha.

Councillor Khanyisile Mthembu who was representing Mayor James Nxumalo said it was good that KwaZulu-Natal was aligning itself with SAFA Master Plan and Vision 2022.

"We are also happy with Indaba resolutions that relates to Talent Identification and Development model and Capacity Building and Funding Model," said Mthembu.

SAFA Chief Executive Officer, Dennis Mumble, who also attended the Indaba, applauded KwaZulu-Natal for becoming the first province to convene a gathering of this nature.
